

Coaches Across Continents 2021 IMPACT - Organizational Resources

Essential Resources for Organizational Accreditation – 10

ASK for Choice Theory for Organizations: CAC will support partners with resources, ideas and collaborative spaces to explore the various aspects of gender equality. Our ASK - Attitudes, Skills and Knowledge - for Choice program uses Purposeful Play to bring gender policies to life.

ASK for Choice Women's Rights Policy: With partner input, CAC will design and develop a women's rights policy for their community accompanied by ASK for Choice games to bring that policy to life.

CAC SAFE Initiative: CAC will provide consultancy on how to ensure the rights of children are protected in partner communities based on years of experience with UNICEF and UNHCR. CAC will share our Child Safeguarding Policy and support partner organizations to design localized policies for their community. Through CAC SAFE we will work with partners to ensure our programs are Child, Coach, Organization, Community and Social Media SAFE.

Education Outside the Classroom (EOC): Alongside our Purposeful Play and Self-Directed Learning practices, EOC is a core player in our methodology. We will support partners to constantly explore innovative and imaginative ways to bring education outside the walls of the traditional classroom setting.

Monitoring & Evaluation: CAC will offer support to partners in how to gather and assess relevant data to achieve desired outcomes as an organization and in their specific community.

Purposeful Play: One of the core aspects to all CAC methodology and practice, Purposeful Play stands as an intentional evolution from 'sport for social impact'. With our partners we will continue offering Purposeful Play tools and resources year-round. We will also create opportunities to explore play and fun and how we integrate purpose so we are not perpetuating the very cultures of traditional sport that we are working to transform.

Self-Directed Learning Methodology: CAC will offer support on how to use Purposeful Play to facilitate sessions where children (and people in general) direct their own learning, developing skills to challenge harmful traditions and cultures, and create spaces where everyone is heard.

Theory of Change Development: CAC will support partners to develop their own Theory of Change that will enhance their work on the ground.

UN Convention on the Rights of the Child: Beyond sharing the actual materials, CAC will create spaces for partners to collaborate with other groups around the world to share the various localized versions of this essential UN document. For example we will ask our partners: What does a child's right to _____ mean in your community? What are the realities, dangers, and possibilities?

UN Sustainable Development Goals: CAC will offer partners opportunities to better understand and leverage the UN Global Goals. We will create collaborative spaces for partners around the world to share their stories behind different SDGs and what these big goals mean in real, local situations.

Elective Resources for Organizational Accreditation – 16

Award Nomination Support: CAC will send opportunities for awards, write references and submit nominations for our partners. We will also provide consultancy on how to write successful award applications.

CAC Together: Inspired by the activities of our partners during the heat of the 2020 global pandemic, we launched #CACTogether. Through this initiative we seek to create opportunities to connect with organizations and leaders in informal, supportive ways as well as create supportive connections across our network.

Chance to Choice Theory: As the core philosophy behind all CAC programs and activities, CAC will support our partners to look closely at the barriers to 'choice' that exist in their community and explore solutions in collaborative spaces.

Community Mapping and Engagement: Through simple organizational tools and opportunities to connect and learn with other partners, CAC will support our network of organizations to map out the resources, people, organizations and opportunities that exist in their communities in order to amplify their purpose.

COVID-19 and Pandemic Strategy: The consequences of the 2020-2021 global pandemic will be felt long after the world is vaccinated. CAC commits to ongoing support for our partners to meet the rapidly changing needs during difficult and unprecedented times.

Financial Consultancy: CAC will work with partners to share opportunities that enhance their financial sustainability. This includes opportunities for joint-funding with CAC to support our partnerships and our partners' work in communities as well as resources from external consultants offering support to the CAC network.

Global Leadership Courses: CAC will provide partners with opportunities to submit applications for various leadership courses offered throughout the year.

Global Networking: CAC will create spaces where partners addressing the same UN SDGs or working with similar populations can connect and learn from one another.

I Choose Theory for Organizations: Building off of 5 years of global experience with ASK for Choice, creating spaces to discuss realities specific to women and girls, CAC has launched I Choose. CAC will support partners to explore traditional ideas of what it means to be a boy/man in communities across the world in order to navigate our way to gender equality.

Organizational Strategy Support: CAC will offer ideas and tools that can be used to transform how partners communicate internally and structure their organization; this includes consultancy on organizational core values, Strengths Weaknesses Opportunities Threats Aspirations and Results and an opportunity to speak with CAC Founder, Nick Gates.

Project-Based Learning: Launched as a pilot in 2020, on a case-by-case basis CAC will offer opportunities for pairings of 2 partners to connect young leaders in their programs in virtual settings to learn about each other's cultures and lives and, ultimately, design, develop and deliver a project together.

References for Organizations: Upon request, CAC will provide organizations with a professional reference. This can be used to help with grant applications, award nominations, and anything else that asks for testimony to build the organization's brand and promote its purpose.

Social Media and Marketing: CAC will work with partners to create social media campaigns to highlight the impact being made through Purposeful Play around the world; we will also support partners with resources to build their marketing capabilities.

SRHR Program Delivery: Based on our global experience with Pathfinder International, CAC will support partners with a pathway towards advancing SRHR - sexual and reproductive health and rights - using Purposeful Play in their communities.

TED-Ed Storytelling: CAC will offer partners a unique opportunity to develop storytelling, technology and presentation skills of their beneficiaries with resources from the internationally celebrated organization responsible for TED-Talks.

Virtual Learning: The shift in work culture in 2020 created more possibilities for virtual learning and collaboration. CAC will be at the forefront of offering our partners opportunities to keep building, learning and connecting whether we can visit partner communities or not. This space is undefined and open for imagination. We are excited to offer virtual, interactive and participatory sessions based on any and all emerging needs of our network.
